

IOG Groundex Education Programme Sets The Stage For A Successful Event

Local government grounds maintenance, health and safety issues, artificial and natural turf, pesticides, landscaping and grass roots funding as well as personal development issues will all be covered in the exclusive series of free seminar presentations planned for IOG Groundex at the Ricoh Stadium, Coventry on 23-24 October 2006.

Presented by industry-leading organisations that include the Health & Safety Executive, BALI, DEFRA and the ECB, the outline seminar programme cements IOG Groundex as a major educational event for the grounds care and open space management sector.

Speakers already booked include Bernadine Cooney, HSE; George Mullan, Support in Sport; Michael Finch, head groundsman at Coventry City FC; Bruce Cruse, ECB; and Billy Martin of Kestrel (Contracts).

With an expanding exhibitor list – including Allett Mowers, British Sugar Topsoil, Campey Turfcare, Dennis, Earth Tec, Fleet Line Markers, Harrod UK, JCB Groundcare, K9, KOREC, Mark Harrod, Mitchell Industrial, NXO, Ransomes Jacobsen, SAPCA, Scotts, SebaMT UK, SIS, VITAX and Warwickshire College - IOG Groundex is on course to establish itself as a major educational event in the grounds professional's calendar (visit ioggroundex.co.uk for more details).

- IOG Groundex was announced by the IOG as a focused, regional educational event headed by an industry-relevant seminar programme.
